

Bad Weather on Firearms! Have You Examined Yours?

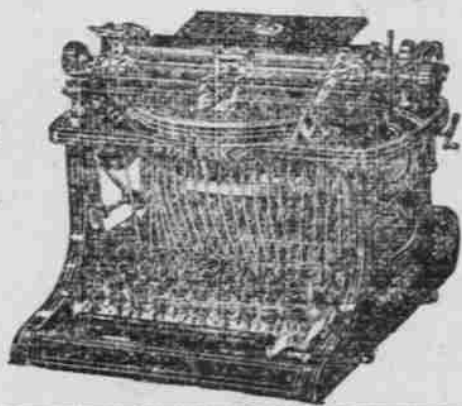

First on the outside of a shotgun, rifle or revolver spoils the looks of them. On the inside of the barrel or a rifle or revolver it ruins the shooting quality; on a shotgun it injures the shooting but we are prepared to entirely remove the pits and rust in our repair department. You can prevent this by a liberal use of good gun oil. We use only the best on our own firearms in stock, and have the same oil put up in bottles for our trade at 25c per bottle. We also carry "Three in One" and Cole's "Many Use Oil" for those who prefer it, at the same price. If your firearms are in good condition, keep them so by oiling them thoroughly in damp weather.

PINNEY & ROBINSON TYPEWRITERS

The maintenance cost on the Fox Typewriter is much less than on any other.

Four Fox Typewriters were used constantly in the Chicago postoffice for three years, at a maintenance cost of 50 cents. On four other standard machines, costing the same as the Fox, used the same length of time, the maintenance was $36.00. Allow us to demonstrate the superiority of the Fox to you.

Placed on free trial anywhere, and second hand machines taken in part payment.

HENRY SLOSSER IS DEAD

Pioneer and One of the Noblest and Kindest of Men.

Henry E. Slosser died at the Sisters' hospital last night. The cause of death was uraemic poisoning after an illness of nearly a year. For six months he had been for the most part confined to his bed. Three weeks ago it was thought best to bring him from his ranch nine miles southwest of the city, to the hospital.

He was at no time hopeful of recovery nor was he entirely without hope until last week when he realized that the end was not far off. On Sunday he had abandoned hope as well as the wish to live and arranged to close his earthly affairs yesterday. On Sunday afternoon he conversed freely with a friend. He had taken a keen interest in public affairs, not merely of his neighborhood, but of the territory, the nation and the world. He had followed the eastern war with great interest but on Sunday none of these things interested him any longer. He said that he was leaving them all behind him. Toward the last he quoted liberally from Kotzebue, the witty Russian philosopher closing the quotation with these words: "Why am I here?"

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, exhaustion, general debility.

Mr. Slosser failed so much during the night that when morning came his physicians and nurses who had cherished a slender hope of prolonging his life agreed that he would probably not see the night. He sent for a notary and transacted such business as had come up recently (for he had always kept his business well in hand,) and was at peace.

Having affixed his mark to the last signature, he seemed to begin to die. He took little notice any longer of his heart broken daughters Mrs. Dora Bacon and Miss Minna Slosser who had been at his bedside almost constantly in the latter days of his illness. He seemed to be unaware of their weeping and though his eyes were opened he saw nothing.

In the early evening a priest administered the last offices but the dying man could not hear his prayers and he gave no sign when the tall white stole priest asked him if he had heard. And so he lingered until twenty minutes after nine when the last breath departed from one of the kindest and noblest of men. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced.

Henry Slosser was born in Germany fifty-five years ago. He came of a good middle class family and received the highest education having taken a course at the University of Bonn. He was not of age at the time of his graduation.

He came to this country soon after and remaining a short time in the east he came to the Pacific coast. Soon after he came to Arizona and engaged in the cattle business and ranching. It was a singular life for one of his training and mental equipment but they were hidden things. He sometimes showed these treasures to his more intimate friends. Financially he was successful in his operations notwithstanding his boundless liberality.

Mr. Slosser was a good and strong fighter. He was the first to maintain a successful war against canal companies and gained victories of which others reaped the fruits in a generous measure. But as a fighter he gained the respect and even the admiration and love of those whom he fought for during his illness he was visited by the general manager of the company from which he had wrested rights of farmers long withheld. The attorneys for the company also shared in the respect in which he was held.

About twenty years ago Mr. Slosser married Miss Tewksbury who died about three years ago. There are left three children, Mrs. Dora Bacon, Miss Minna Slosser and Adolphus Slosser.

A PHOENIX WEDDING

To Which Prescott Contributed the Interested Parties.

Alva B. Clifford and Miss Daisy Belle Dayton both of Prescott were united in marriage yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed at the First Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Lewis Halsey, in the presence of a few friends. Carl T. Hayden, county treasurer was the best man and Miss Wallihan of Prescott the bridesmaid. Miss Hattie Halsey played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford and Miss Wallihan left this morning for Prescott.

The bride was one of the clerks of the council of the late legislature, and when the ceremony was finished Dr. Halsey congratulated the groom on having secured as a bride one of the two handsomest girls in the legislature. He did not disclose the name of the other. As one of the legislative chaplains it is surmised that the doctor ought to know what he is talking about. Anyway, during her sixty days residence in the city she made many friends.

Mr. Clifford is known by only a few of the residents of Phoenix but what they know of him is to his advantage. He has for a long time been connected with the mercantile firm of D. Levy & Co.
